LEAD Communities of Practice launched!

Over the last months, each one of the LEAD Living Labs has organised online workshops to launch their local Communities of Practice. Communities of Practices aim to gather both public and private entities, comprehending the whole value chain of urban freight transport, including public administration and local authorities, universities and (logistics) research centres, mobility clusters, associations (trade, freight transporters, neighbourhood), logistics service providers, among others.

Curious about the outcomes of each of these workshops? Read our reports on the Madrid, Porto, The Hague and Budapest events. Oslo took a different approach.
