

CIVITAS & Environment

CiViTAS
“quotes”

“ By examining two regional level travel information websites in Italy providing timetable and other static information on bus and rail services, a study (Enei, 2014) suggests that provision of travel information can help encourage modal shift, with one forecast suggesting 5% shift from car to public transport

This would lead to accident and air quality benefits

Sources

Enei, R. (2014), The assessment of social benefits of two Marche region of Italy multimodal traveller information systems
CIVITAS INSIGHT, Real-time information for public transport