

“ Eco-driving

Is a term used to describe energy efficient use of vehicles. It means smarter and more fuel-efficient driving and it represents a new driving culture that makes best use of advanced vehicle technologies, while improving also road safety

The cost-benefit analysis of Tallinn eco-driving training for bus drivers indicated:

a net present value of €67,657
over three years

with a cost/benefit ratio of 1:6
in the case of a social discount rate of 5.5%